Candidate for Senior Security Engineer Position | Rapid7

Hello Rapid7 team -

Since I first stepped into the world of cybersecurity, I've realized this field is about more than just firewalls and scripts. It's about responsibility, strategic intelligence, and a future-focused mindset. That's exactly where my path aligns with Rapid7. I'm applying for the Senior Security Engineer role with the confidence of someone who lives and breathes security - and the belief that real impact happens when technology, purpose, and action converge.

In recent years, I've worked across multi-cloud environments, responded to critical incidents in real time, and built AI-powered security solutions to detect threats before they surface. Instead of reacting, I've learned to anticipate. Designing zero-trust architectures, automating processes intelligently, and keeping operations resilient under pressure has become second nature.

I speak over 10 languages, a skill that has been essential for leading global teams, clearly communicating risks, and tailoring solutions to different cultural and regulatory contexts. For me, security is also about knowing how to communicate - with people, systems, and data.

I chose Rapid7 because I see a restless, creative, and intelligent energy in what you build. The way you combine deep visibility with automation is inspiring. I want to be a part of that. Bringing not only technical expertise, but also vision and initiative. My focus is on delivering real results - with ethics, agility, and forward-thinking.

I'm ready to contribute. Let's talk?

With energy and purpose,

Luan Felipe
